

Members Update for January 10th, 2022

Just a quick update about our bylaws meeting yesterday. First off – thanks to everyone that set aside and made time to attend the meeting. There were multiple concerns about members being eligible to vote or not, depending on what kind of device they were using to access the online Zoom meeting. Anyone wishing to dispute or challenge the results of the bylaws meeting should contact the National Presidents Office and copy our National Staff Rep at the following emails:

Mark Hancock – National President – mhancock@cupe.ca

Bridget Pridham – bpridham@cupe.ca

Emails should outline concerns members had with the process we followed.

As it stands currently, 8 of the 10 sets of bylaw proposals were passed by the voting members in attendance. As next steps, the Executive will review the minutes of the Bylaw Meeting this week and send off the results of the meeting along with the minutes of the meeting to the National Presidents Office. Any proposals we approved locally are not officially approved until they are approved by the NPO. The National Presidents Office will also weigh in on any concerns or challenges raised by members before approving the Bylaws.

Just a few quick items for you to make note of:

Vaccination appointments are available for education workers at <https://www.fhvax.com/>

Next Sunday – Monthly meeting at 10am – Zoom link will be in Friday's update for everyone

School Return – January 17th - hopefully we will hear from the government this week about whether or not in person learning will return next week. Keep your ears open and when there's an announcement, we'll relay that to you in case you miss it.

Cheers,

Blake
